A parade of unusual interest will be held on the school grounds, Tuesday, June 14, at 1 o'clock. All pupils who have opened a new school savings bank account this year, or who have made one or more deposits on an old account may participate in this thrilling demonstration. Mrs. Leona Holland, thrift chairman, is in charge of the program. It is anticipated that many representative banners and unique costumes will be displayed. The public is cordially invited to view the parade which is to be held on the high school track.

Principals, teachers and parents are invited to attend an exhibition of manual education work of pupils in the Los Angeles elementary schools. It will take place June 1 to June 4, inclusive, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. in room 311, F. W. Braun Bldg., 1240 So. Main street.

The A6 girls served a luncheon today at 12 o'clock in the home economics bungalow, especially honoring Miss Alice Carothers, who is to receive an A. B. degree from the University of Southern California this June, and Mrs. Mabel Ella Sweet, who is to receive an M. A. degree from the University of Southern California. All members of the faculty attended the luncheon.

The A6 girls served a delicious luncheon last Thursday, May 26, to all members of the faculty, in the home economics bungalow. The luncheon was especially in honor of Miss Alice Carothers who is to receive an A. B. degree from the University of Southern California this June, and Mrs. Mabel-Ella Sweet, who is to receive an M. A. degree from the same University in June. Doctor William Day Moore, school physician, and Miss Katharine Perry, school nurse, were invited guests.

Two A6 girls, Marcella Crook and Betty Irvine, are pleased that they have had the privilege of sending their compositions, entitled (1) "Self-Control in the Architecture of Ancient Greece," and (2) "Self-Control in Architecture," respectively, to be submitted for exhibition purposes during the World Olympics program.

Mrs. Armina Bond, primary instructor, recently attended a banquet at the beautiful Chevy Chase Country Club in Glendale. The banquet was sponsored by teachers of Los Angeles city and county who have participated in a series of tennis tournaments throughout the spring time. Fourteen beautiful trophies were awarded the winners. William R. Bond, Los Angeles instructor and husband of Mrs. Bond, is one of the founders of a permanent tennis club for teachers.

mains belonging to Charles Quandt in order to permit the county to grade Sepulveda boulevard.

Steiner explained that Quandt held an old franchise from the county which did not require him to alter the level of water mains as the pipes had been laid at the proper grade established by the county at the time the system was installed. Steiner also said that the county threatened to withdraw its road crew from the Sepulveda job unless the pipes were lowered immediately and that rather than jeopardize the continued employment of local men on the Sepulveda job that he had sent a crew of local unemployed to lower the pipes, and that the total expense to the city was only between $50 and $75.

When the smoke of the Steiner-Klusman battle dispersed the question of relief for unemployed was again discussed. Lawrence McGuire suggested that executives of local industries be asked to employ Torrance men. He stated that he had found employers in other cities were loyal to their townspeople and asked that Torrance employers be urged to engage men who live in this city instead of hiring men from other communities.

Short talks were made by Councilmen Ludlow, Conner and Wright, and Henry Perkins, chairman of the local group of unemployed.

Mayor Klusman pleaded for the county plan of relief, which would be carried out through local agencies under the general county plan, details of which are printed in another story in this issue.

Wilmington Man Drops Dead On P. V. Golf Course

Peter C. Becker of Wilmington, sales manager for the Associated Oil Company, died suddenly of a heart attack Monday while playing golf at the Palos Verdes golf course. He was 46 years old. The body will be taken east for interment in Arlington cemetery, following funeral services held at Wilmington. Mr. Becker was a veteran of the World war, serving in the navy.

First Hand Data Given On Hawaii

Torrance Man Learns of Bad Political Conditions In Islands

Deplorable political conditions in Hawaii are frankly revealed in a letter received recently by Newton L. Hall of the Hall Metal Products company in this city. The letter written by a friend of Mr. Hall's who is traveling in Europe and the Orient, follows in part: "Honolulu, T. H., May 8, 1932. "We have had no end of excitement over here with the several rape cases.

"The natives are not much on any particular set of moral standards, especially the Japanese and Portuguese who have no morals at all.

"The older generation of Hawaiians are very fine people and would like to see the government start a house cleaning from the governor down, but as they are in the minority their chances of having such wishes fulfilled are very small, and unless the people of the mainland persist in having this done, the local politicians will continue to do as they have been doing. It can truthfully be said that these politicians do believe in the public be damned policy—we do as we please.

"Up to a very short time ago, a man making application for the police department would not be given a job unless he had served at least six months in the penitentiary, they believing that it took a crook to catch a crook.

"Everyone here, outside of the politicians, is hoping that Uncle Sam will put these islands under a commission government, for then, and not until then, will they become the 'Paradise of the Pacific'."
